andrewakers

software engineer

about

1812 W 244th St Torrance, CA 90501

310.901.3050 andrew@akrs.me http://akrs.me Tweet at me: @akrs_ Fork me: github/akrs

programming

♥ C, Java Javascript, Python, x86_64 Assembly CSS3 & HTML5

interests

low level code, open source, security, tinkering

education

since 2012 BS in Computer Science

Majoring in Computer Science

Loyola Marymount University

experience

since 2012 Loyola Marymount University

Teacher's Assistant

Assist other students with homework and use of lab facilities. Grade homework assignments.

since 2011 6th Street Consulting

Intern

Deployed and maintained small and medium business networks, both on premises and in AWS/Azure. Also worked with a team to build and deploy corporate intranets based on SharePoint for large clients.

projects

2014	Wearables UI Research SCCUF	{
	Did a comparative analysis of the learnability of the UIs of Pebble, Android Wear	, and Google Glass with a partner. Presented a poster at the Southern California	ì Conference for Undergraduate Research.
2014	PebbLIFX GitHuk)
	A Pebble application to control LIFX Bulbs from a Pebble. Built initially on AndroidLIFX, later moved to the official library.	- diolocit X, later moved to the official library.
2014	AndroidLIFX GitHuk)
	Unofficial API to support LIFX bulbs in Android and Java applications
2014	Captionr GitHub)
	Website to automatically synchronize transcripts with a YouTube video. Built	t

awards

2011 Finalist CyberPatriot III

with a partner in 48 hours for LA Hacks.

Lead a team of 5 into the top 12 through an Air Force Association sponsored CyberSecurity competition, out of around 400 teams across the nation.

2010 3rd Place CyberPatriot II

Got third place in an Air Force Association sponsored CyberSecurity competition out of around 200 teams across the nation.